FACILITY OVERVIEW

Hamilton County Public Health records for this landfill are limited. Therefore the type of material disposed of at the property is unknown. Two lists of disposal sites in Hamilton County from 1968 and 1970 list the site as "Reading Disposal Site". No other records or inspections exist for the property. Hamilton County has no records regarding the operation of the incinerator on the property. Aerials show that filling of some type has occurred on the property starting no later than the 1950s. Filling with clean hard fill continues today on the property. On the following page are several ODOT aerials showing where filling occurred and its progress from 1955 through 1980.

SITE INSPECTIONS

The site was inspected by HCPH on December 14, 2021. No violations or nuisance conditions were observed on the site.

SITE PRESENT DAY

The property is currently occupied by the City of Reading's public works department. Various buildings and storage structures related to the departments' duties are located on the property. Additionally, the city operates a Class IV compost on the property. Filling with clean hard fill continues at the property as well. The old incinerator building and smokestack remain on the property.
